

BEAUTIFUL SPRING

The merry spring has come again
As likewise has the showers:
We feel a bed bug now an' then,
An' soon will see the flours.

The grass will soon be gittin' green
Just like the spring time lovers
Will on the gait an' lawn be scene
Like spoonin' turtle dovers.

It makes us feel like gittin' out
An' rompin' in the meadows:
An' playin' tag with some big lout
Or turnin' double hedders.

We watch the grass for daffodills
An' frogs an' other flours:
An' take some biters cove an' pills
Too ease our tired ousers.

The flees will bite the sleepin' dog
An' make him scratch like sixty:
The Katy did purred on the log
Will holler to his Trixty.

An' then we'll shoe our nabers hen
An' also cuss the nabor:
We'll beard the bed bug in his den,
An' thus waist all our labor.

NEGRO HANGED AT FT. SMITH

Ft. Smith, Ark., March 23.—A mob of 500 persons tonight surrounded the Crawford County jail at Ft. Smith and secured by force an unidentified negro who was shortly after midnight hanged to a telephone pole in front of one of the leading hotels in the city.

The mob, after a futile attempt to break in the doors of the prison, pried off the window bars with telephone poles and used one of the telephone poles as a scaffold to suspend the negro.

As he was dragged through the principal streets before the lynching the negro pleaded for mercy. He had earlier in the night shot and killed Detective A. J. Burke in the lobby of the hotel before which he was hanged.

After the body was cut down by officials the mob dispersed quietly. No attempt was made to arrest any of the participants.

SONG SERVICE

The choir of the Presbyterian church rendered a very attractive program Sunday evening. The central theme was "Redemption" and around it were grouped choruses, duets and an anthem, interspersed with Bible readings.

The pastor gave a ten minute talk on "The present need of Christ's redeeming love to solve the problems of today."

A good sized audience followed the various numbers with keen appreciation. We understand that such a service will take place regularly once a month.

DISPLAY OF MILLINERY

The milliners of Monett, Mrs. Mace Jacques, Mrs. Fannie Martin, Mrs. Lulu Ferguson and Mrs. J. W. Armstrong, gave their opening display of millinery, Saturday. The weather was stormy and but few ladies ventured out, but a gratifying sale of hats was made.

The shapes show great range of size and style this year and the ladies will not find it difficult to find a becoming hat. The new colors of primrose, honey, and American Beauty shades are predominant, while the usual reds, blues and browns are worn, with green very much in evidence.

All the millinery establishments are presided over by experienced trimmers, who have accomplished much in artistic creations and can suit the most fastidious. In Mrs. Martin's establishment Mrs. Clifford Cravens is in charge, Mrs. Morris, of St. Louis, is in Mrs. Jacques store, Miss Ida Eagen, of Oklahoma, in Mrs. Armstrong's, and Miss Edith Stocker, is trimming her second season for Mrs. Ferguson, with Miss Ethel Campbell as second trimmer.

The Ladies World for April suggests the springtime, from the very pretty cover to the last word on the last page. In the stories you sense the growing things, and in the fashion departments you see what is to be worn, while household matters chiefly concern what is best to eat and why a change of diet is desirable at this season. Taken all through, it is the best issue under the new ownership. The short fiction is in an hour of Spring, by Agnes Boulton; The Four of Them, by Anne Story Allen; The Keeper of the Key, by Imogen Clark; The Loves of Childhood, by Weymer Mills. All of these are beautifully illustrated. There are several notable special articles, such as The Call of the City, in which Anna Steese Richardson tells what the city offers to young girls in the way of employment and remuneration; The Cry of the Mountain Woman, by Charles V. Tevis—the "cry" being for education for her children; Receiving the Small Visitor, by L. Josephine Bridgart; Studies in Married Life, by Louise D. Mitchell; and Earning by Saving, by Laura A. Smith. Besides the household and fashion departments already noted, there are contributions on etiquette, good looks, the health of children and slovenly speech, with some excellent stories and pastimes for children's entertainment. The Grand Army of the Republic.

(A Sentiment.)

NO CHILD can be born into it; no proclamation of President, edict of King or Czar can command admission; no university or institute of learning can issue a diploma authorizing its holder to enter; No act of Congress or Parliament secures recognition; the wealth of a Vanderbilt cannot purchase the position; its doors swing open only upon presentation of a bit of paper, torn, worn, begrimed it may be, which certifies to an honorable discharge from the armies or the navies of the Nation, during the war against the rebellion, and unlike any other association, no "new blood" can come in; there are no growing ranks from which recruits can be drawn into the Grand Army of the Republic. With the consummation of peace through victory its rolls will be closed forever.

By request of Wm. S. Judkins.
